Announcing Krames On-Demand for Allscripts Professional EHR

Now integrated with the Krames On-Demand Infobutton platform, the StayWell and Allscripts partnership provides a solution with instant access to Krames Patient Education along with a streamlined implementation and workflow process.

Krames On-Demand Infobutton features include:

- Comprehensive list of recommended content based on patient condition or medications
- Education materials delivered with your personal logo and brand
- Multiple languages available for your unique patient demographic
- Ability to print and document to the patient record with a simple click
- Seamless integration into your patient care workflow

Customize your StayWell content license for your practice:

HealthSheets™ – Over 3,400 print-on-demand HealthSheets — all available in English and Spanish — in digestible one and two page formats.

Krames Videos – Over 350 video links to share with your patients or push to the Patient Portal.

Custom Content Builder – Modify existing award winning Krames content or create your own custom materials with access to Krames’ comprehensive image library featuring over 2,400 medical illustrations.

The StayWell Infobutton solution is designed to save valuable time for clinicians through a user-friendly interface that requires little training.

1. Within the patient record, simply click on the Infobutton icon to request Krames Patient Education based on diagnosis, age and gender.

Print-on-demand urgent care and emergency medicine discharge instructions, in English and Spanish, are also available. Contact your StayWell Sales Representative for more information on adding our optional ExitWriter® program to your content license.
The parts of the prosthesis are secured to the bones of the knee. Together they form the new joint.

When to call your doctor

Once at home, call your doctor if you have any of the symptoms below:

- An increase in knee pain
- Pain or swelling in the calf or leg
- Unusual redness, heat, or drainage at the incision site

Total Knee Replacement

During total knee replacement surgery, your damaged knee joint is replaced with an artificial joint, called a prosthesis. This surgery almost always reduces joint pain and improves your quality of life.

Before your surgery

You will most likely arrive at the hospital on the morning of the surgery. Be sure to follow all of your doctor’s instructions on preparing for surgery:

- Stop eating or drinking 10 hours before surgery.
- If you take a daily medicine, ask if you should still take it the morning of surgery.
- At the hospital, your temperature, pulse, breathing, and blood pressure will be checked.
- An IV (intravenous) line will be started to provide fluids and medicines needed during surgery.

The surgical procedure

When the surgical team is ready, you’ll be taken to the operating room. There you’ll be given anesthesia to help you sleep through surgery, or to make you numb from the waist down. Then an incision is made on the front or side of your knee. Any damaged bone is cleaned away, and the new joint components are put into place. The incision is closed with surgical staples or stitches.

After your surgery

After surgery, you’ll be sent to the recovery room. When you are fully awake, you’ll be moved to your room. The nurses will give you medicines to ease your pain. You may have a catheter (small tube) in your bladder. A continuous passive motion machine may be used on your knee to keep it from getting stiff. A sequential compression machine may be used to prevent blood clots by gently squeezing.

3. Print and document with a few simple clicks.

Learn why leading health care providers choose Krames Patient Education Solutions from StayWell

StayWell and Allscripts have partnered to integrate Krames Patient Education for Professional users, offering the best of breed Infobutton solution. This partnership is born from a shared commitment to bring high-quality patient education resources to hospitals, health systems, clinicians and the patients they serve.

Content created to a higher standard
For more than 40 years, Krames Patient Education content continues to reach and improve the lives of more than 80 million patients annually. The award-winning, patient friendly, evidence-based content is developed in adherence to the principles of health literacy design, which is why StayWell continues to be the premier health engagement company in the health care marketplace serving as the provider of choice in over half of U.S. hospitals.

Results-driven approach
Integrated Krames Patient Education solutions drive results and improve care along with supporting Meaningful Use requirements and streamlining your workflow. Leading hospitals and health systems choose Krames Patient Education because we have proven experience improving patient satisfaction and adherence to treatment plans.

Integrated solutions
Our comprehensive library of multimedia patient education content—including illustrated patient education HealthSheets, emergency discharge instructions, and health education videos—can be accessed directly from the Infobutton within your Allscripts Professional EHR. This integrated solution allows a cohesive patient education program across your practice to every patient touch point.
Improve outcomes and patient satisfaction with superior content.

Krames Patient Education is the best option available in your EHR for discriminating clinicians. It’s engaging, instructive, and digestible, with just the right amount of information for you and your patients.

The superior information design of Krames content goes beyond just the targeted reading levels. The layout and plain language incorporate health literacy design principles to ensure that the content is easy to read, understand and impacts patient behavior change and compliance to treatment plans.

Krames content is created by an experienced staff of writers and illustrators in conjunction with clinicians ensuring the accuracy of health education delivered. All content is peer-reviewed by our network of practicing specialists. And content is regularly updated to ensure accuracy with the latest medical evidence and standards of care.
See why Krames On-Demand Infobutton from StayWell is the best choice for your patient education needs

At StayWell, we understand that improving health outcomes relies in large part on patients’ clear understanding of their diagnoses and the treatment protocols presented to them, as well as what actions they should take going forward. That’s why we are committed to transforming health care communications and patient education so that the right message is delivered to the right person at the right time, and via the most preferred delivery method.
